C.H.,
I know that you need some time to gather the policy advisors together to analyze the white paper concerning the Real ID. However, I am going to continue to meet with legislators to educate them about the act and the possible effects on the SCDMV. I will be careful not to make specific recommendations; however, I do feel that I need to continue because this is a major issue for DMV. I think that legislators will have enough information to speak with their congressional delegations if they so desire. Let me know if this causes any concerns.

Thanks,
Marcia
