Rob,

We just received this information, but local officials tell us it's the first they've heard about it and the Highway Patrol says it's not accurate.

Can you assist with this? Without any information on a time frame, this has the potential to really panic people again if we put this out there. We are trying to get someone from SCDOT on the phone, but have had no luck.

Please get back with me AND Chris Sokoloski. I sent her contact information in the previous email from me.

Thanks.

Mark

FROM SCDOT:

In anticipation of flooding in Georgetown County, the following traffic control points will be established to deny access to the potential inundation area:

- *US 17 @ Charleston County Line
- *US 17 @ Horry County Line (SC 707)
- *US 701 @ Horry County Line
