Thank you. Any comment on the second part?

Also, Sen. Grooms has filed local legislation (or maybe he withdrew it – the story seems to be developing) that would require Berkeley County School District to provide separate facilities for transgender students. (S-1306) If that gets second reading by the delegation and approved, would the governor sign off on it?

Quote from Governor Nikki Haley, "As I said when North Carolina passed its law, I don't think we need that type of law here. But we also don't need President Obama imposing a one-size-fits-all policy from Washington. We have always been proud of the fact that we handle issues such as this one in our school districts, and I trust South Carolinians to decide this issue, community by community, at the school district level."

Hi, Chaney –

Can you provide me with the statement regarding the federal directive from the justice and education departments that you gave the Greenville News?

Thanks,
