My little girl won a fishing pole at the MB State park this past Saturday at the take a kid fishing day. It was our first time at this event. Just a little feedback, We weren't able to show up till 10 which we asked when we first arrived if it was still ok to sign in because we didn't want to disturb anyone - they said of course and we were on our way out to the pier. There was a very nice gentleman volunteer that got us bait. Unfortunately one of the rangers (who put off the vibe that she was in charge) was not very nice at all. She was absolutely perturbed that we showed up late and made that known even by going as far in the end to announce that every kid caught a fish but one. There was also a young girl volunteer who rolled her eyes at me when I asked if there were any raffle tickets left because the pier stir told us to ask a ranger.

It was a great day for my family and I that we could do this together and my daughter was beyond stoked to win a fishing rod but that woman ranger should probably not be at these events if she is going to have a bad attitude at a kids event.
