Mina Harrington It would be really nice if the parks would go ahead and put in pictures of each campsite on the new reservation site. Some parks who had pictures previously now have none. It makes it next to impossible to be able to decide where to camp in a park, especially if you have never been to it before.

Angela Tennant Adams I'm finding it difficult to plan sites because key features like shower houses and playgrounds aren't noted on maps anymore. I don't want to be in the path of a bath house, but with small kids I need to be reasonably close.
