DeShawn is off today, so I talked with her assignment desk. She knew exactly why I was calling so I explained the process and why there is no FEMA assistance available in this case.

Chaney,

Good evening! My name is DaShawn Brown, a reporter with Live 5 News.

I wanted to reach out in reference to the tornado that touched down Friday on Johns Island in Charleston County. Many residents tell me they've reached out to FEMA for further assistance, but were told the agency could not assist them until Gov. Haley declared the area in a State of Emergency.

What plans, if any, does the Governor have to assess the area for possible consideration?

Kind regards,
