Subject: Restorative Justice Facilitator Workshop - A National Training Event

Restorative Justice Facilitator Training

Chicago, Illinois: July 7-9, 2015 (early rate deadline June 7)

Restorative justice is a response to harmful incidents that seeks the direct inclusion of all involved in efforts to meaningfully address the harm and foster renewed relationships. Drawing on the work of Canada's original restorative justice pioneers and best practices around the globe, this national training event will deliver the essential skills of convening harm-focused dialogue processes within organizational and educational settings. This is a highly interactive workshop where participants will practice and gain confidence in facilitating a model of dialogue that is participant driven, culturally sensitive and empowering for all involved.

This special 3-day training is offered in partnership with the Fraser Region Community Justice Initiatives.

During this event, participants will:

- Deepen their understanding of the needs and experiences of people involved in harmful situations.
- Gain valuable new insights into the limitations of traditional punitive discipline.
- Build an understanding of restorative justice as a philosophy and mindset that can inform their everyday work with people.
- Develop skills in group facilitation and interpersonal problem solving.

Trainer: Shadell Permanand, B.Th

Shadell has more than 18 years experience in the areas of conflict resolution, restorative justice and cultural diversity education. Her key roles have included, Executive Director of a conflict resolution and restorative justice organization in Toronto, Canada as well as senior leadership roles at York University and University of Toronto related to conflict resolution, crisis management, developing restorative student conduct programming, equity/diversity and public education. Shadell is an engaging facilitator who is passionate about developing environments that support equity, inclusion, restorative justice and constructive conflict resolution.
