Governor's Proclamation

WHEREAS, Ehlers-Danlos Syndrome (EDS) is a group of inherited disorders of the connective tissues that primarily affect the skin, joints, ligaments and blood vessel walls; and

WHEREAS, people with Ehlers-Danlos Syndrome experience symptoms including stretchy or fragile skin, flexible joints that extend beyond the normal range of motion, muscle weakness, heart problems; muscle weakness, abnormal wound healing and a family history of ruptured organs; and

WHEREAS, EDS is a serious and life threatening condition that has no treatment or cure; and

WHEREAS, thousands of residents of the Palmetto State, including patients, friends family, caregivers, medical professionals, social workers, and researchers seeking to develop safe, effective treatments, are impacted by Ehlers-Danlos Syndrome.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Nikki R. Haley, Governor of the Great State of South Carolina, do hereby proclaim May 2011 as throughout the state and encourage all South Carolinians to work together to raise awareness of Ehlers-Danlos Syndrome and of the need for research to help ensure accurate diagnoses and appropriate treatment for those it affects.
