Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulations
110 Centerview Dr.
Columbia, S.C.

Dear Ms. Glenn:

I am still dissatisfied with the response and decision of the Investigative Review Committee. Dr. Jack Luadzer completely abandoned me in the middle of a life crisis without notice, closure or referring me to another councilor to continue my therapy. He just disappeared. He had requested a confidential document of mine which was not returned. Nowhere in the response letter did it address an explanation from Dr. Jack Lauders as to what happened within his practice or if my document will be returned to me. Is he dead or alive? Still practicing? I hope not.

I pay taxes and support your agency. I am not satisfied with this decision. Please do not suggest I call someone else in your agency, Ms. Glenn as you have in the past. Your name is on this letter.

Re: Dr Jack Luadzers

Dear Ms. Ruzzin:

Pursuant to South Carolina law, the Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation investigated the initial complaint you filed. After the investigation was complete the matter was presented to the Investigative Review Committee, which includes an attorney and member of the profession. The recommendations from the Investigative Review Committee were forwarded to the Board of Examiners for Professional Counselors, Marriage & Family Therapists; Psycho-Educ. Specialist. On 10/07/2014, the Board of Examiners for Professional Counselors, Marriage & Family Therapists; Psycho-Educ. Specialist ordered the initial complaint be dismissed. Please be assured that during the investigation your concerns were discussed with the licensee.

Thank you for your interest in ensuring South Carolina's professionals are complying with state laws and regulations.

Sincerely,

Patricia F. Glenn
Administrator
