The Governor will not attend the reopening below, but she is planning to send a letter to be read at the event. She asked me to pass along the information to you because she would like for this to be announced on social media on March 6th.

Thanks,
Nicole

Dear Governor Nikki Haley,

I Lori Hanlon store manager of Michaels Arts and Crafts along with all of the associates of store #1237 would like to invite you to our Grand Reopening in the "newer than new" Rosewood Crossing Shopping Center. As you know, because of the 1,000 year flood on October 4th, 2015, we lost everything we had worked so very hard for. My long awaited 25 years with Michaels has given me the opportunity to call this Michaels my very own. A beautiful store it was and with the #SCStayStrong spirit it will be again. Our first go round with the people of the area was a thrill and we are eager to invite everyone back to what we believe will be bigger and better than before. The devastation of the flood has evoked a spirit of fellowship within our community that both unites and strengthens the people. We are honored to be a part of that journey and hope that our store can bring joy to everyone that steps through our doors. Please join us on March 6th 2016 for our ribbon cutting ceremony. My team and I believe that your presence will reinforce your support of the renewal of businesses of Rosewood Crossing immensely.

Thank you for your time,

Lori Hanlon

Store Manager
