This isn't urgent. DOA communicates directly with the Town Manager regularly on this issue. I'll have DOA give Shannon an update.

Is there something that we need to do with this?

Shannon has not been particularly helpful this year (or any year), so I don't know that there is any reason to interrupt our current focus on vetoes and ethics to appease her inquiry in the next day or two. I am happy to get information from DOA and set some conference call or other forum to share with all members of her delegation the week after next.

Leg shop - please advise as to urgency and direction.

Haley,

This is one of several emails I am receiving on the Port Royal port property status. Perhaps you've communicated with other delegation members but I have not had an update since April, so perhaps we could schedule a date for regular info sharing?

By my count, the 30 day time period is up and I'm very curious myself as to the status.

Please let me know by Monday afternoon so that I can share with my constituents. This issue is becoming visceral at best.

Thanks,

S-

Hi, Shannon.

Stephen was nice enough to pass your email to me. I've been at a couple of parties recently where friends were pumping me for info regarding progress on the Port Royal waterfront.

Given all the tax initiatives, there's a frustration that the State hasn't sold the Port, after a decade of false starts, so it's taxable. There's also interest in the possibility of coming quality residential condo/ flats construction as an option as we age. Finally, last night I was presented with a rumor that the Town doesn't want the marina to be built. Totally news to me.

I know just a wee bit that's not public, because I'm friends with someone who might become involved. Don't know that info to be accurate anyway and don't feel its shareable. And as I'm not involved in government any longer, despite Stephen's best efforts, I don't know that side of things either.

What I was wondering is does your office, the SPA or other Agency post any updates on progress and plans for the Port, that I might direct friends to so I can get out of the middle of things. I'm am doing my level best to become a good retiree and a burden on society 🤔🤔.
