Subject: StoryCorps event this Thursday!

Hi Chaney, Butch Bowers suggested I contact you directly about the StoryCorps opportunity this Thursday. This is an exciting event for the State and the Midlands. South Carolina ETV, EdVenture and the South Carolina State Museum are hosting StoryCorps which is an oral history project and interviews that will be collected in Columbia and can be stored in the Library of Congress with participant permission. It is possible the interviews will also be included on NPR broadcasts with select stories animated and shown on South Carolina ETV each week.

We would love for the Governor to consider greeting StoryCorps to the Midlands with Mayor Benjamin at noon and then record her session at 12:30 afterwards this Thursday in the StoryCorps airstream currently located on the Edventure terrace at 211 Gervais St.

Remarks can be brief, just a request for the public to record their personal histories and the importance of passing South Carolina stories down from one generation to the next.

A few ideas for her interview: We were thinking that it might be a wonderful and a unique approach if she were interviewed by her husband or one of her children but it can be anyone she chooses. A few years back, Mayor Riley was interviewed by his child and it was a very meaningful interview. In addition to the opportunity to be on-air nationally, the stories are also logged in the Library of Congress.

Dates for interviews are as follows:

This ThursdayPress event at 12:00 and VIP interview slot at 12:30

Other options for VIP interview slots:

Dec. 10: 10:30a, 11:30a, or 12:30a

Dec. 11: 2:30p, 3:30p

I have also cc'ed Glenn Rawls with ETV in this note. Please let us know as soon as you can if Governor Haley will be available. Many, many thanks! Margaret

Margaret- I have talked to the Governor's office about this. Please contact Chaney Adams in the press shop at chaneyadams@gov.sc.gov and she will help you navigate this. Good luck,

Butch

Sure hope you are alright. What an election-whew!!

I have a question for you. StoryCorps is a popular NPR radio program and is partnering with ETV in Columbia. They are bringing their airstream down from DC and will be parked in the ETV parking lot starting Nov. 17th.

EdVenture has an opportunity to ask a VIP to be interviewed in the top interview position as a kick off for the event. I was hopeful you might ask the governor if she would be the EdVenture VIP for an interview.

We were thinking that it might be a wonderful and unique approach if she were interviewed by one of her children but it can be anyone she chooses. Below is a link that tells a pictorial story about it:

The dates for interviews are as follows:

Thurs. 11/17
10:30, 11:30 or 12:30

Sat. 12/10 10:30, 11:30 or 12:30

Sunday 12/11
2:30 or 3:30

Can you suggest how we can make this happen? Thanks so much for your help and consideration!!
And thanks!!! Margaret
