Subject: Giving back -- today and every day

Today is Giving Tuesday -- the day when, after the crush of holiday shopping this past weekend, millions of Americans give back to their community with some of their time, talent, or treasure.

We hope you'll be one of them. As warm as this holiday season can be, we all know that too many of our neighbors are still left out in the cold -- sometimes quite literally.

So, as we gather at our holiday tables with those nearest and dearest to us, let's not forget to remember and help those more vulnerable and less fortunate than we are, too.

After all, while there's never a bad time for good deeds, giving back feels a little sweeter this time of year -- both for those who give and those who receive.

Don't know where to start? Charity Navigator provides a guide and ratings for how both local and national nonprofits will put your generosity to good use.

This Giving Tuesday -- and every day -- let's come together as a nation to help those who need it, and build the kind of communities and country that we need right now.

Thanks again for all you do to make that happen!
