Legal – Abbeville:

The Supreme Court has amended the Plaintiff Districts' proposal and set a more concrete timeline for oversight. Now, the timeline for addressing the constitutional violations is as follows:

One week after conclusion of the 2016 legislative session, the General Assembly (and Governor) will submit a written summary to the Court with all proposed, pending, or enacted legislation to keep the Court informed of progress. Then the Court will review the summary and issue an order on whether the State is constitutionally compliant and whether the Court needs to continue its oversight.
