A current photo of the unfinished entrance wall at Lake Greenwood State Recreation Area. When WW II broke out, the CCC left Lake Greenwood and many enlisted or were drafted into the Army.

Virginia J. Pulver I wonder why they elected to NOT complete the project after the war ended? It's a good story though.

Kaley Foley Actually the men in the CCC Camp at Lake Greenwood were a unit of veterans' from WWI. When Pearl Harbor was bombed, the unit was called to action and literally dropped everything right as it was.
