

From: BuzzFeed <newsletter@buzzfeed.com>
To: Adams, ChaneyChaneyAdams@gov.sc.gov
Date: 11/27/2015 12:00:20 PM
Subject: This Week In Cats: They're Getting Smarter

---

This week's cat of the week is the handsome blue-eyed boy, Coby. This cute guy just loves enchating everyone with his sweet kitty gaze. Keep doing you, Coby.

While the cat of the week was busy charming everyone with his good looks, the rest of Cat Country was buzzing with determined individuals. Let's look back at the highlight reel:

- 1) These cats summed up exactly what it feels like to be at the dinner table on Thanksgiving.
- 2) Another group of brave kitties came together to fight the good fight against electronic toothbrushes.
- 3) A 26-year-old cat was crowned "World's Oldest Cat" — and this grandpa has a lot of wisdom to give to everyone.
- 4) These giant cats were so incredibly huge, they actually made their humans look tiny.
- 5) Harvery, a former feral cat who had a rough start to life, just found his new forever family.

If you're looking to take your cat with you everywhere you go — you might want to check out this brand new onesie that has a special secret pocket just for your kitty.

In another corner of Cat Country there was a great debate over whether or not this cat was actually haunted, while others struggled over this nearly impossible kitten quiz.

One courageous cat managed to sneak into a New York Times photo of President Obama. Well done, kitty.

Finally, this handsome orange cat reminded all of us that it's important to get into the holiday spirit once in a while — even if you don't totally feel like it.

What a week for cats! Tune in for what these silly kitties will have in store for us next.

And those were the top links! Now we have Horoscope Cat back on the panel to tell you what your December is going to be all about. Take it away, Horoscope Cat!

Good news, friends — December has arrived and that means your fluff planet is back in prograde and all is right in the world. The first week of the month may have emotions running high, so be sure to seek solace in a cardboard box. If you're feeling up to it, find a belly to knead your paws in — but stick close to the people you love most, not EVERYONE is to be trusted.

The week of the 14th might bring some romance your way, so keep your paws open and your purrs loud. It's the season to be cozy and sweet after all — so why not embrace it?

From the 23rd to the end of the month, take time to recharge your batteries. Use up that new scratching post, snuggle up to your favorite cuddle buddies, and cherish that brand new catnip. This is the time to recharge those batteries.

Been waiting to tell that special someone just how you feel? Take the opportunity to stick your butt in their face on New Year's Eve — it will surely pay off.

---

**We're thankful that you're a fan of This Week In Cats! And if you love cat news as much as we do, maybe you'll share our newsletter with your friends! Tell them they can sign up here!**

---

Get more stories on BuzzFeed	Trending on BuzzFeed
--	--------------------------------

---

This BuzzFeed email was sent to chaneyadams@gov.sc.gov | Unsubscribe

Did a friend forward you this email? Sign up to get BuzzFeed in your inbox!

