Hello my friends and I are planning a camping trip. So far our group consist of 6 adults and 6 kids. We are also still waiting for another family to see if they are coming. I have a few questions. We wanted to camp close to the beach and find that Myrtle and Huntington Beach can accommodate us. In Huntington Beach there is a campsite that is called rustic tent site what is the difference? Also we will have 5 would we need more than 2 campsite?

A rustic tent site can only accommodate tents, not RVs, and usually only have water and not electricity available. Also usually only two tents are permitted per site. Please call the park you are interested directly for more information. Phone numbers can be found on our website at www.SouthCarolinaParks.com
