Hello Ms. Adams,

My name is Meghan Keneally and I am a digital reporter for ABC News.

I have to start out by saying that I am so sorry for what happened in Charleston. It is heartbreaking even for people who have no direct connection to the church or Charleston, let alone those of you who are in the state.

I was hoping to get some information from you about any steps that have been taken to increase security at churches heading into this weekend. Have there been requests for increased security made by any churches in particular, and if so, what is the Governor's office doing to respond.

If you could share any information that you have about the topic, I would really appreciate it. And if it's actually being handled out of a different office entirely, I will reach out to them instead.

Thanks for your time and I hope to hear from you soon,

Meghan Keneally
