Subject: Thank you and next steps

Dear all,

We want to extend our sincerest thanks and appreciation for your attendance at Monday's convening on Advancing the Practice of Pay for Success. Promoting the use of this tool at all levels of government is a priority of the White House Office of Social Innovation and Civic Participation. Today's White House blog post describes the President's new management agenda and highlights Pay for Success prominently as an important tool in this broader agenda.

However, we recognize that we cannot drive the Pay for Success agenda alone and yesterday's meeting emphasized the power and breadth of the work that is being done around the country. As I mentioned in my closing remarks yesterday, please share any thoughts on next steps and how our office can best help you advance your work on Pay for Success. We very much hope that each of you will reflect on yesterday's meeting and will share your thoughts by email in the coming days.

Finally, we would like to share the roster of all attendees; please let us know by Friday, July 12th at 12:00 PM if you would not like your name or email address to be shared. There will also be a report on the convening which will be shared in the coming weeks.

Thank you again for your leadership role in this important field and for attending the convening yesterday.

Best regards,

Jonathan Greenblatt, Special Assistant to the President and Director, Office of Social Innovation & Civic Participation
