

Switchman Hurt

By Yard's Gate

~~The Record~~ 9/18/41

George V. Null, a switchman for the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, was injured early this afternoon when a gate, part of the enclosure around the ACL yards near the Bluff road, swung and hit him on the head.

W. T. Peters, terminal trainmaster, said that Null was just outside the enclosure when the gate hit him.

The injured man was rushed to the Columbia hospital in an ambulance.

Null's address was given as F-5, Gonzales Gardens, by hospital attendants.
