Don't 'Fix' Obamacare

BY JEFFREY H. ANDERSON

King v. Burwell provides Republicans with a time for choosing: they can prepare to negotiate "fixes" to Obamacare with the Obama administration, or they can lay out a plan that would effectively repeal and replace Obamacare in 36 states and lay the groundwork for full repeal in 2017.

Don't Give Up the Fight

BY NATIONAL REVIEW EDITORS

Congressional Republicans should step up their efforts to rein in Obama's lawless executive amnesty, not just because it is bad policy, but because it threatens the constitutional order that is the foundation of our republic.

Oh My: 56 Percent Say Republicans Should Block Obama's Executive Amnesty

BY ALLAHPUNDIT

Even in a poll in which President Obama gets a 50 percent approval rating, 56 percent of those same respondents are in favor of Republicans blocking his lawless amnesty when told how many people it involves.

Let's Stop Pretending Obamacare Repeal Is the Big Business Agenda

BY TIMOTHY P. CARNEY

This piece succinctly makes a point that those in Main Street America have sensed for a long time: health-care companies are fighting repeal efforts, not driving them.

Judicial Restraint Is Right

BY EDWARD WHELAN

Judicial activism—as opposed to judicial action that is clearly compelled by the Constitution or laws—involves judges substituting their own will for the rule of law, in violation of the separation of powers, the Constitution, and republicanism.
