

Account: South Carolina State Parks

Content type: Facebook Page - Timeline posts

Record ID: 20130402South-Carolina-State-ParksTimeline-posts52748_10151523202268166

South Carolina State Parks

at 14:30:01 on 4/02/2013 UTC · 🌐

TIDBIT! It's getting to be that time of year when freshwater aquatic turtles start appearing on our state parks. You can see them resting on logs or the shoreline close to the water, soaking up the sun. Sometimes you can see their tiny heads poking out of the water in the middle of a pond or lake. Some of the more common species seen are chicken, mud, musk and yellowbelly turtles. Get out to a state park to check out our turtle residents!

Kim Johnson Berry Headed to Dreher Island on Thursday!

at 14:45:12 on 4/02/2013 UTC

Tim Williams Leaving now

at 14:53:49 on 4/02/2013 UTC

Rebecca Agic Oconee State Park on Friday! Can't wait!

at 15:30:51 on 4/02/2013 UTC