Description/Significant Features:

The single story frame Bungalow is three bays wide and four piles deep. The building is capped with a front-gabled roof with exposed rafter tails, and a pedimented porch embraces the building's north and part of it's eastern elevations. The porch is supported by battered wooden columns resting on brick bases. Original weatherboards and cornerboards clad the building's exterior. The building additionally appears to retain its original four-over-one sash and original doors.
