Good Morning Danny,

Per the conversation we had, since this is just a short welcome to Greenville, I am providing the About Us from Saulsbury's website. I think this should provide enough context for the company, but please let me know if you need anything else.

“ABOUT US

Saulsbury is a national leader in providing engineering, construction, fabrication and services to heavy industrial clients across a wide range of industries: Gas Processing & Treatment, Refining, Petroleum/Petrochemicals, Power (Fossil & Nuclear), Manufacturing, and Terminals/Logistics. Most importantly, we bring our "safety first and foremost" value that has yielded one of the preeminent records for incident-free operations in the construction industry.

From our roots as an electrical and instrumentation services contractor, Saulsbury now operates as a full-service EPC firm with a well-earned reputation for delivering low-cost solutions on accelerated timetables. We pride ourselves on professionalism, coupled with a west Texas "can do" spirit and underlying value of integrity in all things."

I reached out to him on June 21 with an email request but have not heard back. I just called him a moment ago and spoke with him requesting that he complete the form and return it to me. He said he would return it shortly.
