South Carolina State Parks

at 19:00:00 on 5/19/2014 UTC

WHO KNEW? The Virginia Opossum is one of the most ancient of mammals and have a number of fascinating adaptations. They are the only marsupial in North America. They have a pouch in which they carry their young from birth until they are about two months old. They are also resistant to snake venom! This is very useful if you have a habit as many opossums do, of making a snack out of venomous snakes. Turn learn more about the amazing opossum, stop by the Animal Forest Classroom on Tuesdays at noon for the Creature Feature program.
