Are you concerned about the future of South Carolina's youth?

Join us for a cocktail reception with celebrity chef & author, Jeff Henderson. Learn how you can partner with EdVenture to empower young people through education.

CELEBRITY CHEF, ENTREPRENEUR, AUTHOR

CHEF JEFF

211 Gervais Street
Columbia, SC 29201
www.edventure.org

CHEF JEFF rose from humble beginnings in South Central Los Angeles to become the first African-American executive chef at the Bellagio Hotel. He is now a successful TV host with a cable show on the Food Network, a nationally syndicated series called, Family Style with Chef Jeff and the host of Flip My Food. When he isn't cooking on TV, he's a highly sought-after motivational speaker, sharing the secrets of realizing your potential at schools, organizations, and Fortune 500 companies across the country.

Chef Jeff is a strong advocate for youth and will serve as the keynote speaker at the EdVenture Be A Boss Youth Summit on January 23 at the museum. The summit will educate middle school students on developing leadership skills, how to increase self confidence, maintaining a healthy self-image and goal setting.

Join us on January 22 to hear about how you or your organization can change lives throughout the Midlands and South Carolina.

Explore the museum, participate in a science activity in EdVenture's BioInvestigations Lab and taste the creations of the EdVenture Cooking Lab!

This reception is complimentary but pre-registration is required at BeABossReception.eventbrite.com.
Call 803-400-1152 for additional information.
