An Ounce of Prevention is Worth a Pound of Cure

Ensuring that assets are properly cared for is important for extending their working life as well as helping the bottom line.

Did you know?...

- Up to 85% of a building's total cost is related to its operation
- 70% - 85% of equipment failures are caused by improper maintenance practices
- Preventive maintenance can cut costs by 12% - 18%

The right practices can make or break your buildings, no matter if they're newly built or a hundred years old. Click below to learn more about the impact of proper care on your assets and their value.
