Weekend Garden Tour - Video 3: Next stop along the garden tour with Ranger Terry & Ranger John at Charles Towne Landing is another variety of camellia! Notice the different colors and sizes of the blooms -- all beautiful!

Kim Smith Beautiful! It looks like camellias do not require full sun. Is that correct? I'm considering planting in my yard maybe along with gardenias.

Jenny McMillan My camellia japonica has larger flowers in a rose red shade and blooms mid to late winter. Often it's buds get freezer burn before they can ever open, but it is gorgeous when the really cold weather doesn't get it. My sasanqua blooms in the fall and has smaller leaves and flowers are a light pink. Here's the sasanqua.
