

Account: South Carolina State Parks

Content type: Facebook Page - Timeline posts

Record ID: 20111107South-Carolina-State-ParksTimeline-posts52748_10150385996538166

South Carolina State Parks

at 14:18:15 on 11/07/2011 UTC · 🌐

Thanksgiving is a'coming! Do any of you spend your Thanksgiving in a SC State Park? If so, tell us about the tradition!

Tiger Amy Abercrombie Landrith this year will be our first camping at Thanksgiving. We will be at Greenwood State Park. New traditions will have to be made.lol

at 14:59:31 on 11/07/2011 UTC

Judy Pack Jordan not thanksgiving ,but camped at croft state park last year for a while, had a christmas tree on the picnic table,and then it snowed ,it was soooo pretty

at 15:03:51 on 11/07/2011 UTC

Norma Cooler We will be spending Thanksgiving at our beloved Hunting Island this year.....can't wait!

at 15:36:53 on 11/07/2011 UTC

Joy Powell Jordan Every year! Charlestowne Landing State Historic Site!

at 15:59:51 on 11/07/2011 UTC

Judy Sharpe I will be at Hunting Island the day after Thanksgiving.

at 16:30:41 on 11/07/2011 UTC

Holly Ann Taylor If I were there this year, I'd be hiking off the turkey and stuffing on the Pinnacle Trail loop at Table Rock.

at 18:58:35 on 11/07/2011 UTC

Matt Cribbs Eatin turkey and hiking at Table Rock! Hopefully get to watch the Lions beat the Packers while sitting outside the camper and enjoying the fall weather!

at 20:30:58 on 11/07/2011 UTC

Frankie Houston Camping all week as usual at James Island County Park.

at 0:11:34 on 11/08/2011 UTC

Laura Herbert was thinking of staying in cabins at Table Rock this year, but instead will be hitting the trails - Table Rock Trail. - last time went was misty weather and overcast, but still was well worth the climb and now know what will be in store for. Hopefully weather is not as misty, cool weather is okay for me. But when the rocks are wet / slippery that is when it can make it difficult/challenging to climb...

at 3:03:57 on 11/08/2011 UTC