I'm sorry, but I should've said this to start. You want the editorial page editor, when available. Use the "submissions" email when you can't find that person.

Please let me know if I need to find another contact. For instance, I didn't know if a "features editor" would be better to contact than a "copy editor" or "newsroom clerk". In all cases I tried to find contact information for the executive editor or publisher.
