Leon,

Thanks for the email. I talked with Chaplain Dewey yesterday.

Thanks,

Ted

Ted, Katherine & Haley,

I hope this finds each of you well.

Long time Coastal Crisis Chaplain Rob Dewey has been trying to get an audience with the Governor about the decision of DPS to dump Coastal as the crisis ministry for Troop 6 after many years of service to the community down here. To say that coastal is the gold standard for spiritual assistance to victims, witnesses, family members and first responders during times of crisis would be an epic understatement. They have been at it a long time and continue to serve our other agencies in this region. Reverend Rob and his staff are passionate about the work they do and are torn up that they are not able to minister victims, family members, witnesses and officers in our local DPS cases right now.

Please see what you can do to get them an audience with Governor Haley or her designee so they can make their case and attempt to work this issue out. They certainly have across the board support from the folks on the ground down in this area.

Sincerely, Leon
