Statements of Support

We listened to state leaders over the last year in developing this infrastructure plan over the last year – White House officials alone met with several hundred state and local leaders to discuss infrastructure. Now we encourage your governor, transportation director/secretary, and other state leaders to help echo our focus on improving our nation's infrastructure through statements of support and social media. The attached content will give you further perspective. Please send us any statements you distribute.

- President Trump's plan to improve our nation's infrastructure will directly benefit every family, business, and community throughout the country.
- This President is a builder, and he is making this a priority.
- For too long, our nation has neglected prioritizing improvements to our roads, bridges, ports, and water systems.
- The President recognizes the economic importance of infrastructure and the critical part it plays in the quality of life that every American deserves.
- Reform and restructuring federal programs are also a key element that will open opportunities for workforce training throughout the country.
- Thanks to the President's leadership, federal, state, and local leaders have a unique opportunity to improve our nation's infrastructure.
