Free Webinar:

Restorative Justice - Guiding Principles for Communities & Organizations

Each month CTRI offers a complimentary webinar.

How do we respond meaningfully to harmful or criminal actions? Based on the principles of restorative justice, this webinar offers a framework for answering this question as it relates to your own context. The timeless philosophy of restorative justice focuses on the needs of everyone involved, emphasizing direct accountability, reparation, prevention, dialogue and, in some cases, renewed relationship. If you work in a community, school, government or other organizational setting and make decisions about how to respond to harmful actions, this webinar will provide you with insights for incorporating restorative justice principles into your environment.

CTRI is hosting the following in-person Special Training Events on the topic:

Restorative Justice Facilitator Training

Chicago, Illinois: July 7 - 9, 2015

Banff, Alberta, Canada: April 8 - 10, 2015

Restorative justice is a response to harmful incidents that seeks the direct inclusion of all involved in efforts to meaningfully address the harm and foster renewed relationships. Drawing on the work of Canada's original restorative justice pioneers and best practices around the globe, this national training event will deliver the essential skills of convening harm-focused dialogue processes within organizational and educational settings. This is a highly interactive workshop where participants will practice and gain confidence in facilitating a model of dialogue that is participant driven, culturally sensitive and empowering for all involved.

During this event, participants will:

- Deepen their understanding of the needs and experiences of people involved in harmful situations.
- Gain valuable new insights into the limitations of traditional punitive discipline.
- Build an understanding of restorative justice as a philosophy and mindset that can inform their everyday work with people.
- Develop skills in group facilitation and interpersonal problem solving.
- Learn and practice a flexible structure for restorative justice dialogue.

Special training events are unique specialized workshops that happen only once or twice a year. Participants attend from around the world. This special 3-day training is offered in partnership with the Fraser Region Community Justice Initiatives.
