Subject: Final Webinar Reminder: VoteCast: Taking Democracy Digital

Hi Tony,

While many organizations have gone digital in areas of agenda management, streaming City Council meetings, or even allowing citizens to engage with their government, many are still recording votes manually.

Something as simple as improving the way governments record votes during public meetings can be the difference between an outdated, time-wasting process and a streamlined, secure workflow.

Our webinar will dive into how digitizing this process can help your organization.
