Subject: Free entrance to America's public lands for Veterans Day and more This Week at Interior

---

Dear Friend,

This week, a three-day conference in Idaho explores best practices for conserving sagebrush habitat in the Great Basin region, and USGS scientists test a model that could eventually restore water flow in Florida's Everglades. Veterans Day is a "fee free" day on many of the nation's public lands, and active-duty service members and their dependents can get free access to more than 2,000 national parks, wildlife refuges, national forests and other public lands around the nation. Plus, more in This Week at Interior.
