

Account: South Carolina State Parks

Content type: Facebook Page - Videos

Record ID: 20090811South-Carolina-State-ParksVideos52748_1037614480070

South Carolina State Parks

at 1:02:49 on 8/11/2009 UTC

Day one is complete with the final park of the day being Huntington Beach at Murrells Inlet. The park is home to Atalaya the winter home of Anna Huntington the great sculptor whose works can be found at Brookgreen Gardens.

Huntington Beach State Park

Patsy Harper you should have been there a couple of years ago when it sleeted and snowed it was cold windy and beautiful we loved it and found the real meaning of *campfire *

at 1:50:40 on 8/11/2009 UTC

Mike Sherwood Great Park for Geocaching too!

at 11:59:33 on 8/11/2009 UTC

Kelly Tribble Atalaya is awesome... quite an inspiring place. My favorite time to go is in the winter. It takes on a forlorn quality that is the stuff of poets.

at 12:55:53 on 8/11/2009 UTC

Roger Nix Huntington Beach is an awesome state park. We were there with some boys from our Cub Scout Pack here in Greenville in January when it was 11 degrees. We decided to go there to escape the cold! HA! It was a great time despite the weather and the boys had a blast. We're going back!

at 4:14:39 on 8/12/2009 UTC