Looks good to me.

If anyone follows up re: the agreement, I would direct them to the statutory agreement as contained in the “findings” section of the bill that created MOX back in 2002 (sec. 3181, Pub. L. 107-314).

In response to The State newspaper’s question, for clarification, on whether we support completing MOX:

We are bound by commitments made before the governor took office, and the governor supports following through on the agreement between South Carolina and DOE. We are not seeing any movement toward processing or moving the weapons grade plutonium. South Carolina will not allow the federal government to ignore our state, and our hope is that DOE keeps its word.
