Michael ,

As our office continues to track the pipeline issue, we appreciate receiving feedback from industry folks on their needs as you hear these requests. Just in case any of your members are not aware: At this time, the Hours of Service waiver is still in effect from Hurricane Matthew through midnight on Thursday, November 3rd. The weight limit restrictions are waived through February 1st. Because our State of Emergency from the recent Hurricane ends tomorrow, we are already looking at extending the hours of service waiver based on the hurricane issues that still exist. I will keep you posted.

Subject: Colonial Pipeline Explosion

FYI - Huge explosion in Shelby County, Alabama, on a petroleum pipeline. Colonial has shut both of its mainlines. Details still emerging.
