Joe,

Having been a lawyer for 15 years, these things happen. I missed it myself as one of the papers is the Greenville News. Go ahead and send – I have one complication which is getting it signed. I am going to run it by myself but it may be the morning before I can scan it back. If that won't work let me know and I will see what I can do.

With great embarrassment, we just noticed that the certificate re the Laurens bonds referenced publication in the Greenville News, though for Laurens the publication was in The Clinton Chronicle. The exhibits and attached proof of publication were correct and referenced the Clinton newspaper. Evidently, in preparing the Laurens certification, we used the Greenville form and missed the different paper of publication. By copy of this email, I am asking Kathy McKinney, the bond lawyer at Haynsworth, to send the correct version of that one certificate to you. Is that OK?
