Subject: RE: Press relase check?

Hey all - as an example, this is the type of thing that may happen during a soft opening:

Just got this in a little bit ago: There is a Mobile DRC soft open in Georgetown. The only staff here is the manager and one IA intake specialist. Residents saw the bus and started standing in line. They have been overwhelmed by applicants since 11am this morning.

We need to have time to address these types of issues (by bringing in more staff, etc.) before we officially announce the DRC opening. That's why we're always cautious about announcing the DRCs. Let me know if you'd like to discuss this more!

Best, hv

The governor is going to announce the Lee and Charleston disaster recovery centers at 430 PM. Can we please get a draft of that asap?
