Strip-till, No-till, Con-till---the options are numerous and the selection is puzzling.

Farmers will have the opportunity to learn about tillage options and how to make a bigger profit while using conservation techniques by attending Farm S.M.A.R.T. on February 13, 2001, at the Florence Civic Center in Florence, SC.

At the Florence Farm S.M.A.R.T. conference, farmers will gain valuable knowledge on how to increase profit through

SC Nursery and Landscape Association to Meet in Myrtle Beach

The South Carolina Nursery & Landscape Association will hold its annual trade show and seminar on February 8-10, 2001 at the Myrtle Beach Convention Center in Myrtle Beach, SC. The program topics include: "Options for Lost Chemicals", Niche Marketing In South Carolina, Weed Control, Root and Crown Rot of Hosta, and Principals of Perennial Design. Three concurrent educational sessions will be held for landscapers, wholesalers, and retailers.

Dr. Allan Armitage, Professor of Horticulture at the University of Georgia, teacher, researcher, world traveler and plant lover will speak on new annual varieties. Jim Wilson, one of the best known faces and voices among TV gardeners and former co-host of The Victory Garden, will speak on Container Gardening. Scott Evans, Vander Kooi and Associates, will present a special program on Managing and Communicating with a Hispanic Work force and the H2B Program.

The seminar programs will be held on Thursday, February 8. The trade show will open Friday and Saturday, February 9-10. On site registration is $50 per person for both the seminar program and the trade show. A trade show badge only is $15. The 260 plus booth trade show offers a wide variety of plant material, equipment, and supplies for the nursery, greenhouse and landscape industry.

The Certified Nursery Professional test will be given on Saturday, February 10. Pre-registration is required for the test.

The South Carolina Greenhouse Growers Association will hold its Annual Winter Meeting in conjunction with this event. There will be a day full of seminars on Friday, February 9, with a 2-hour break to visit the trade show. The registration fee for the SCGGA winter meeting is $30 and includes a badge for the trade show.

For more information about any of these events, call the SCNLA office at 864-592-3868.

SC Pork Conference Set

The SC Pork Board will hold its annual conference at the Landmark Resort Hotel in Myrtle Beach from January 31 to February 2, 2001.

Reports will focus on new environmental regulations and research projects funded by the SC Pork Board.

The conference will include seminars on Thursday, a trade show on Thursday and Friday mornings, and an auction on Thursday evening.

Advanced registration is $15 per person and registration at the conference is $20. The fee covers all conference meals, receptions and seminars. Room reservations should be made as soon as possible with the Landmark Resort Hotel at 1-800-845-0658. For more information, contact the SC Pork Board, 803-734-1768.

Market Bulletin Facing Changes

As we begin a New Year, we in state government are presented with the difficult challenge of maintaining efficient and effective programs and services for you, the citizens of South Carolina, while decreasing our budgets drastically. That task is especially trying for the South Carolina Department of Agriculture.

As an elected Constitutional Officer of the State of South Carolina, I have held myself accountable for spending tax dollars wisely. During my tenure, it has been my policy not to request budget increases in appropriated funds over and above what was absolutely necessary to accomplish the objectives of the agency. Since there is and has been no padding in our budget diet, there is absolutely no room to lose weight.

Recently, state agencies were asked to cut their budgets 5% to 15%. I have asked every division in our agency to find ways to make those cuts in our already bare-bones budget. It will be difficult to reduce our budget without reducing or eliminating programs, services, and staff. In order to continue to provide the Market Bulletin to you, we may need to make some adjustments in the publication.

The Market Bulletin has been a long-standing institution for farmers and non-farmers in the state. Since its establishment almost 88 years ago, the Market Bulletin has been a free publication. Except for a brief period during the Great Depression, the Market Bulletin has been published continuously since 1913. At the peak number of subscribers in every two-year cycle before the renewal process, there are about 67,000 subscribers and 20,000 advertisers who buy and sell approximately $30 million per year in agriculture and agricultural-related items through the Market Bulletin.

What does the budget cut proposal mean to you as subscribers and advertisers? In light of the 5% to 15% budget cuts, we have only two options before us, as we see it, and we would appreciate your preferences on both of these.

The first option would entail limiting the Bulletin to 12 issues per year. What this means is that instead of receiving an issue every first and third Thursday of the month, you would receive one issue per month. Some subscribers have told us that this option would reduce the Bulletin's effectiveness.

The second option would be for subscribers to pay a subscription fee for the Market Bulletin. The fee would be $4 a year in a 5% budget cut or $10 a year in a 10% to 15% budget cut. If we charge a fee for each subscription, the number of issues could remain at twenty-four.

The primary purpose of the Market Bulletin is to provide an avenue for agricultural marketing. In order to make the best decisions regarding the Market Bulletin, I ask that you let us know how you feel about this dilemma.

You can either write us at the SC Department of Agriculture, PO Box 11280, Columbia, SC 29211, or call 803-734-2210 or send an email to marketbulletin@scda.state.sc.us.

Thank you for your support of the SC Department of Agriculture. Please take time to let us know your feelings on the Market Bulletin or any of the programs and services we provide for farmers and non-farmers---all South Carolinians.

Les Tindal

Dear Readers:

Many of you have commented about the large print in the January 4th issue of the Market Bulletin. The print size varies with the number of ads we receive. The issue after the Christmas holidays usually has less ads than others throughout the year, so the print size is larger than normal. As the number of ads increases, the print size decreases.

We will do our best to keep the size as large as possible, but, from time to time, the print size may be small so that we can include all of the ads we receive from you.

Thank you for your wonderful comments. Please continue to let us know how we can better serve you.

conservation tillage. The meeting is designed to assist farmers in reducing production and labor costs and in learning how to spare wear and tear on equipment. For veteran and novice farmers interested in till and no-till techniques, Farm S.M.A.R.T. will provide valuable tips to be used as early as next season to improve the bottom line---profit.

Topics, designed to suit the state’s farming area, will include: ABC’S of Conservation Tillage - Dr. John Bradley; No-Till Cotton on Coastal Plain Soils - Thomas Waller; Strip-Till - What It Takes to Get the Job Done - Jeff Newton; Strip-Till Cotton - Eddie & David Carmichael; No-Till Farming - Frank Howey; Farmer-to-Farmer Information Exchange-Farmer Panel with Earl Hendrix, Gill Rogers and Charles Horger; Agricultural Biotechnology Acceptance - Barry Knight; and the FARM S.M.A.R.T. and The Center of Excellence Project - Randy Cubbage.

Other timely topics will include: "What I Learned My First Year of No-till;" "Con-till in Diversified Cropping Operation;" "Transitioning to Con-till;" "Con-till on Coastal Plain Soils;" "Equipment for Strip-Tillage;" and "Cost Saving With No-till." Credits will be available for those who are participating in the Certified Crop Advisor Program.

A $20 registration fee includes lunch and refreshments, a complimentary book of presentation outlines, and a wealth of other information and materials. Advanced registration is preferred. Conference registration at the door begins at 8:15 am followed by the General Session at 9 am. Lunch will be served at noon between concurrent educational sessions scheduled from 9:30 am to 2 pm.

Farmers interested in conservation tillage should not miss Farm S.M.A.R.T. 2001. For more information, call 1-800-449-1228, Monday-Friday, 8 am - 6 pm (Central Time).
