1. Introductions

The meeting was called to order by Dr. McCurdy. Dr. Lynn Kelley introduced the guests attending, all of whom are listed above.

2. Approval of Minutes

Chairman McCurdy asked for a motion to approve the minutes of the meeting held on December 1, 2005. The motion was made (Byerly), seconded (Mosteller), and carried to approve the minutes as written.

3. Chairman's Report

Dr. McCurdy reported on the status of the work of the group formed, at Governor Sanford's request, to study the needs of higher education in the upstate of South Carolina, and in particular the proposed expansion of USC Upstate on the campus of Greenville Technical College. The study group was composed of Mr. Tex Smalls, Mr. T. W. Edwards, Mr. Larry Wilson, and Mr. C. H. Maguire. The groups' three meetings were held on November 30, December 6, and December 14, 2005. In addition, several CHE staff members, Commissioner Byerly, Commissioner Sanders, Dr. McCurdy and Dr. Festa were in attendance as were several other interested parties. The conclusion drawn from those meetings is that the need to offer expanded opportunities to earn a bachelors' degree definitely exists in the Greenville area, and that USC Upstate is best situated to attempt to meet that need in collaboration with Greenville Technical College. It was also concluded that this should be done in conjunction with the University Center of Greenville, provided that some modifications are made to the University Center's governance structure. Dr. McCurdy stated that he believed this type of action would represent a wonderful example of inter-institutional collaboration in proactively identifying a need and initiating a process to meet that need. Discussion took place as to the relationship between the modification of the University Center's governance structure and the construction of the proposed building. Dr. McCurdy clarified that the governance modification would indeed represent a compromise, bringing the University Center into this project and allowing for the construction of the building to take place within the University Center complex. Discussion then followed regarding the inclusion of additional institutions in the activities of the Greenville University Center, whether institutions throughout the state are aware of that this possibility is open to them, and the overall benefit of this type of cooperative and collaborative effort among the state's institutions.

4. Presentation: A Plan for Progress: One Research University's Strategy Dr. Harris Pastides, Vice President for Research and the Division of Health Sciences – USC

Dr. Morrison provided a context for the presentation and then introduced Dr. Pastides. She stated that she hoped to have representatives from MUSC and Clemson also present to the Commission at some point in the future in order to provide the Commission with more exposure to the research enterprise in South Carolina. Named Innovista, this innovation district is located in the artistic and creative hub of Columbia, SC and it will be increasingly focused on research. Its intention is not only to enhance the academic reputation of USC both within the state and nationally, but also to contribute to job creation, wealth creation, and to the betterment of all South Carolinians. A copy of Dr. Pastides power point presentation, which provides more complete detail about Innovista, may be found in Attachment I.

At the conclusion of his presentation, Dr. Pastides entertained questions. Commissioner Mosteller inquired as to how much Innovista would contribute to the expansion of academic pursuit. Dr. Pastides responded that it will 1) lead to a more world-class faculty; 2) allow for research to reach all USC students; 3) encourage students to remain in South Carolina after graduation; and 4) increase the reputation and value of a South Carolina education. Dr. Pastides and Dr. McCurdy emphasized the importance of the collaboration of South Carolina's three research universities in getting the state to fund their infrastructure. Commissioner Sanders inquired as the length of time it might take to for these types of initiatives to filter down to an unemployed textile worker. Dr. Pastides responded that it is a lengthy process and would more likely take between five and ten years.

6. Legislative Update

- Rita Allison

Ms. Carullo reported that a summary of major higher education issues for the 2006 legislative session had been prepared and it was distributed to Commission members. She noted that, in light of Judge Cooper's recent ruling on the state lawsuit in behalf of the eight plaintiff school districts, more emphasis will be placed on early childhood education which will have implications for this legislative session. Ms. Carullo also noted that Ms. Cathy Harvin had recently won the Democratic Primary in the race to fill the legislative seat vacated by her late husband. As she is not currently contested, it's expected she will fill that seat. In addition, Ms. Carullo noted that Mr. Bob Staton, Chairman of the Education Oversight Committee, has announced that he will be running as a candidate for the State Superintendent of Education.

Ms. Carullo reported that the Governor had released his proposed budget and delivered highlights, details on which may be found in Attachment III. She noted that additional information will follow as time allows a closer study of the budget. Commissioner Ravenel asked whether this information was available on the web, and Ms. Carullo stated that the full budget could be found on the S. C. State Government web site, and that the specific link to that would be sent to Commissioners. Commissioner Mosteller inquired as to whether it was possible to prefile a bill which places a requirement on one public institution, such as the one submitted by Senator McGee relating to the percentage of in-state students at USC. Ms. Carullo responded that this was indeed possible. Ms. Carullo then provided additional information on other prefilled bills, also described in Attachment III as well as information on bills that will be carried over from the 2005 legislative session.

7. Report of the Executive Director

-Conrad Festa

Dr. Festa stated the Commission would be facing some very high profile problems in the 2006 legislative session, the major one of which has to do with funding for higher education. This is a problem in South Carolina as well in other states across the nation. The cost of higher education is in the forefront also. Dr. Festa made reference to a study conducted by the National Center for Higher Education Management Systems (NCHEMS) entitled, A New Look at the Institutional Component of Higher Education Finance: A Guide for Evaluating Performance Relative to Financial Resources, which examines these issues. At Commissioner Workman's request, a copy of that study will be sent to each of the Commissioners. Dr. Festa reported that the Presidents' Accountability Plan is in the final stages of completion and should be ready to be delivered to Commissioners for review in the very near future. Another initiative being conducted by the State Higher Education Executive Board is that of evaluating student achievement in college, which has been a difficult issue in terms of how to measure achievement and what is fair. Another concern is that of mission creep among the state's institutions, both on the technical college level as well comprehensive university level.

Dr. Festa reminded the Commissioners that he will request from the legislature $50 million in General funds for the state's institutions which will be divided to fund both Mission Resource Requirements (MRR) and Parity. Ms. Lynn Metcalf and Ms. Julie Carullo will be developing some "Cliff Notes" on the MRR for Commissioners in order to better prepare them to converse with legislators about this as well as the relationship between funding and the capping of tuition increases. Dr. Festa complemented the Commissioners on their work with legislators and encouraged them to intensify their efforts. This has contributed to a considerable raise in the CHE's profile. Dr. Festa has been emphasizing the fact that higher education must play a role in all of education in South Carolina and that there should be a seamless progression of students and curriculum through education. The result of that emphasis has increased requests that CHE be involved in numerous additional committee responsibilities which has placed somewhat of a burden on the CHE because of staffing issues.

Dr. Festa stated that he was happy to see that the Governor was supportive of program review and added that he would like to see the legislature also restore to the CHE the ability to terminate programs. Commissioner Ravenel noted that some schools are not as devoted to initiating programs as they should be and gave the example of the need for a Master's level degree in Electrical and Computer Engineering in the Charleston area. Commissioner Mosteller inquired as to whether, in light of the concern about cost-effectiveness and efficiency, this would be a good time to request the reinstatement of the CHE's ability to terminate programs. It was suggested that this might be included as part of the Presidents' Accountability Workgroup's recommendations.

Dr. Festa stated that an effort is underway to increase the CHE's proactivity within the state and the nation. He reported that the South Carolina's education preparation programs were recently rated very highly. As a result, the State Higher Education Executive Officers' organization (SHEEO) has asked that South Carolina participate in a study concerning improving teacher education, though again, CHE staffing issues may preclude that participation. Dr. Festa reported that he will also be requesting funding for the hiring of additional CHE personnel.

Dr. Festa noted that the CHE will be working in close collaboration with the State Technical System. He also reported that the Education and Economic Development Coordinating Council (EEDCC) has been active in developing new curriculum in K-12 schools. Transfer and articulation will be examined carefully and ways to further educate the legislature and the general public about that will be developed. The EEDCC will also be working on closing the gap between K-12 and higher education's perceptions of what constitutes adequate preparation for college.

Commissioner Workman thanked Dr. Festa and the CHE staff for developing a brochure which describes the work of the Commission. He also stated that at such time that the Commission is able to develop three main initiatives on which to place its emphasis, that information should be included in the brochure. Commissioner Sanders requested that Commissioners be sent some additional copies of the brochure.

Chairman McCurdy inquired as to whether institutions are aware of the average debt incurred by their students upon graduation. Ms. Lynn Metcalf reported that the federal government compiles that data, though the total debt would be understated because this only includes federal debt. At Dr. McCurdy's request, Ms. Lynn Metcalf will compile that information.

8. Other Business

Ms. Carullo stated that she had neglected to mention in her earlier report that the Governor's budget contained no funding for the statewide electronic library.

9. Adjournment

Chairman McCurdy adjourned the meeting at 1:00 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Beth Rogers

Recording Secretary
