DEAR N. Daley

I'm writing again to ask for help for us. I'm a Lupus patient that has been trying to get help from us that suffers with this silent killer. Lupus has good days and very bad days for us. The help I'm looking for is slow, very slow; Some people don't think that Lupus is a disability and a serious condition, but it is; this condition can take over our life and body; it sets us in a different state of mind and frame. Lupus can cause all kinds of break down in the immune system and set off infections that are hard to treat. I'm trying to get help for me and anyone else who is trying to fight this medical problem. I have been trying to apply for my disability and medicare for four months; but the time wait for this help is long. Myself I have been in the hospital nine times in the last six months and I have just return home. Disability and medicare says this condition change in our life is not that major; But this silent killer will and can take away from everyday activity and some times take away from our income intake.

Please help us with trying to get the help we need for fighting this health problem. Lupus changes us in so many way.

Thank You
