Subject: This Month's Free Webinar - Violence Threat Assessment

The Crisis & Trauma Resource Institute (CTRI) is pleased to offer the following resources:

Free Webinar - Violence Threat Assessment - Planning & Response

Each month CTRI offers a complimentary webinar.

Knowing how to respond to a threat is a tremendous challenge. After a violent incident, it is not uncommon to find that many different people were aware of clues that an attack was being planned. Yet, without the proper mechanism to gather information and assess the situation, prevention is nearly impossible. This webinar provides a communication and decision-making model to help businesses, schools, organizations and communities become proactive in their management of threats. Strategies to help you identify, assess, and manage individuals who make threats will be explored.

National Event - Threat Assessment, Stalking and Cyber-Bullying - Assessment and Management Strategies

Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada: May 4-6, 2015

This training event has three different components that are reviewed. In the first two days - threat assessment, stalking and cyber bullying. Participants will learn strategies to help them identify, assess and manage individuals who may be escalating towards violence. This training provides participants with a better understanding of the nature of stalking, including motivations related to different types of stalkers and management strategies of stalking situations. Specific focus is given to cyber-bullying and cyber-stalking. The final day of the training will focus on case study review, analysis and discussion.

Trainer: Keith Dormond, MSW

Keith has over fifteen years of experience in violence assessment and management. He has worked as a social worker for four years and a police officer for over fifteen years. He has extensive training and experience in the assessment and management of workplace violence, school based violence, domestic violence, stalking and cyber-bullying. Keith holds a Master of Social Work degree from Carleton University and has commenced Doctorate studies in Education at the University of British Columbia. In addition to his work with CTRI, he is a Director and past President of the Canadian Association of Threat Assessment Professionals and a Law Enforcement Officer. As a facilitator, Keith draws on his experience in adult education, policing and violence risk assessment to provide practical, meaningful and participant focused presentations.

National training events are unique specialized workshops that happen only once or twice a year. Participants attend from throughout North America.
