Subject: District of Columbia launches Network of Care outreach programs for Veterans and Mental Health

Hello,

The District of Columbia is the latest to launch the highly successful Network of Care for Veterans, Service Members & Their Families. Simultaneously, D.C. officials launched the Network of Care for Behavioral Health.

The Network of Care for Veterans is a unique virtual community that serves as a true one-stop information shop for our service members returning from combat. It brings together all national resources from the DoD and the VA, along with a wide variety of state-of-the-art content with a fully customized local directory of resources and support.

The Behavioral Health version of the Network of Care makes it much easier for individuals and their families to find exactly what is available, regardless of how programs are funded or in which part of the fragmented maze they reside.

These award-winning programs are completely unique and represent a significant expansion of comprehensive outreach to persons who otherwise often find it very confusing or impossible to find the right service at the right time.

The Network of Care, first developed in Maryland and California, has spread to many counties and states throughout the nation.

The Network of Care is now easily replicated to any local or state jurisdiction. If you have any questions or would like a more in-depth demonstration of how the Network of Care works, please contact me directly at Bronzan@trilogyir.com or (415) 458-5900.

Thank you,
