Have you ever renovated a space and found something unexpected? Recently our talented Parks Central Maintenance Team who restores & renovates our historic structures, found some really cool stuff beneath the interior walls of Cabin 1 at Oconee State Park. When they tore out the interior walls, pinned to the original cabin walls were these documents, some dating back to the time of the C.C.C. They include "outdoor good manners," "boat rules" and even some pricing information! What a find! Thanks to these guys for uncovering and maintaining the history of our parks! Salute! #StewardshipAndService

Carol Meyers Maybach We stayed in Cabin 1 a couple of years ago and never dreamed this was in the wall. My uncle, CH Nelson, was a member of the CCC and helped build at Oconee State Park. He was very proud of the rock walls and steps still standing.
