Linda Kelly Just checked it out! Beautiful, but don't accept pets, gotta pass :(, could have been fun.

Laura Di Girolamo Simoes Yes, it is a truly beautiful place and would have loved to take advantage of the special, but we have a dog also. Too bad.

Stacey Dougherty Most state parks don't allow pets in cabins or villas. Bad pet owners ruin it for everyone else. I'd pay a little extra to be able to bring my dog and the fee could be used to offset any damages and cleaning required throughout the year.

James Palazzi I agree with all these posts. I would pay the fee as we do in most hotels. Maybe invoke a weight limit?

Linda Kelly I manage a hotel, we charge a pet fee, and 99% of the time, people who travel w/their pets are more responsible than some young parents, or adults, lol! Maybe one day!

James Palazzi I would be willing to bet they wouldn't have to make as many posts on FB asking for people to reserve the villas if they would revise their pet policy...Just saying...

Laurie Sigwald Royson I would stay all the time if we could bring our dog. I use to own a kennel and daycare for dogs. The dogs were so well behaved. I can't say that about the students in my kids class. I always clean up before we leave because we have a lab (she was suppose to be a service dog) and I know how much they shed so I make sure the place is as clean as when we got there.

Shirley M. Purcell Dog owners can rent cabins, too - just not your dogs. I know some dog owners and their dogs would leave no trace, but not all. Unfortunately, in many other things in life, the "good" people "pay" for the "sins" of the others.

Marcia Martin I really enjoy the many state parks that we are fortunate to have throughout our pretty state...from the mtns,beach,lakes for swimming & fishing, hills & flatlands for walking or hiking, & many many friendly people to say hello..have a seat & visit with us...ENJOY!!!
