Good Afternoon Senator Bryant,

I have spoken to Ken about what I compiled on the 4k question. I am attaching my longer memo, but the short version is: It is not one hundred percent clear whether or not a tuition-based 4k is within the law, but the weight of the sources tends towards it being impermissible. Please let me know if you have any follow up questions, or if you would like to have something drafted to address this.

Good Afternoon Ken, I have pulled together an informal memo regarding Senator Bryant's request below, that I am attaching. There is not much on the use of a public building in this sort of situation. School facility use seems to be at the district's discretion. Given the lack of information under that question and some discussion, the question had been reframed as: Can a school district simultaneously offer a free 4K program and offer a tuition based 4K program? This is the question that my memo focuses on.

If you could please review and see if you have any additional thoughts or corrections that would be great.

*Best Regards,
Catherine Oates-Robinson*

Please read this item on 4k in Lex 5. Can they charge for 4K in a public building?
