South Carolina State Parks

TIDBIT! Designed by Nature. An imaginative family at Myrtle Beach State Park came across this oak tree which reminded them of the shape of South Carolina. We had been walking by this tree for years and never noticed its true splendor! It makes a fantastic photo op. Get your creative juices flowing- go out to your favorite state park and see if you can find some fun shape that was designed naturally. Clouds count even though they are not permanent!

Bobby Venters I know those people.
