In typical Steve Spurrier fashion, the South Carolina football coach's appearance Tuesday at SEC Media Days was appointment viewing. He opened, as he usually does, with a joke. "A lot of familiar faces out there after a lot of years coming to this event," Spurrier said.

Note: "It was a tragedy, obviously, nine innocent people to be killed like that. I applaud our governor (Nikki Haley) for setting the initiative to remove the flag, and obviously it was received very well by just about everyone in our state and around the country."
